

School of Psychology UG, MSc, PhD and instructors R Studio service

BASIC USAGE:

This service is freely available for ALL students and academic instructors.
(Researchers and Staff please see the section below)

You can log onto your account with your University username and password.

We advise where possible to not have multi sessions running concurrently and to close your session when leaving R Studio to preserve a clean working environment for your account.

The provision will be maintained throughout the academic year but it is advised that you keep a local copy of any files or resources uploaded to R Studio or any working scripts of long term importance. Student accounts will be cleaned for the new academic year and all files removed.

We have previously encountered problems with uploading files from devices with University Disability Assist software installed. If you are experiencing such problems please contact the TECHNICAL TEAM for further assistance.

All support for taught material or statistical analysis is provided by our TARA team who can be contacted by EMAIL or directly at the support hatch in Link 301

RESEARCHERS AND STAFF ONLY:

This provision is free to use in any support capacity for students and academic teaching. If you are looking to conduct personal or published research practices then you will need to use a personal version of R Studio.

This can be installed via the product WEBSITE (for the latest version) or via the University Software Centre on your personal University Device (for the TIS sponsored version).
